

EQUINE ASSISTED LEARNING

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

Equine Assisted Learning (EAL) is an experiential learning approach which promotes educational, professional, and personal development through equine-assisted activities. We partner with Rocky Mountain Equi-Rhythm to offer this program.

INSTRUCTORS

Jenny Burnsed is a Licensed Professional Counselor and Licensed School Counselor who has worked with children, teens, parents, and families since 1993. She has worked in a variety of settings including public schools, community mental health, equine therapy centers and in private practice. She is the executive director of Rocky Mountain Equi-Rhythm.

Suzanne Smith is an equine-assisted therapist with Rocky Mountain Equi-Rhythm. She has been a dual licensed clinical social worker and special education teacher in Colorado for more than 20 years. She is passionate about connecting children, teens, and adults with horses for equine-assisted therapy and learning.

Elisabeth Denizot is a dual certified Equine Gestalt Coach and Master Gestaltist, and is the founder of Nurturing Strides. Elisabeth works with horses to help promote a safe space to promote healing and growth.

PROGRAM SETTING

This program is offered in a group setting for peer support and to provide the opportunity to work on any social goals that have been established. Depending on the program, some groups meet monthly, weekly for 6-8 weeks, or as needed.

GOALS

The main goals are to learn life skills and gain emotional growth through guided horse interaction and unmounted activities. Instructors work in partner with schools, group leaders, and/or individuals. Participants and instructors strive to meet these goals through equine interactions and activities.

PROGRAM SPONSORSHIP

We offer our facilities and horses to Rocky Mountain Equi-Rhythm at a discounted price so that they can offer this program at an affordable price for their clients. We are only able to do this through program sponsorship.
